Feedback 5

Our relationships are the best mirrors we have for learning about ourselves. The following exercise is designed to help you learn more about how others perceive you.

Select 5 people who know you, preferably from different areas of your life, and ask them the following 5 questions?

1. What is the first thing you think of when you think of me?
  2. What do you think my greatest accomplishment is?
  3. What do you value most about me?
  4. What do you perceive to be my greatest strength?
  5. What do you perceive to be my greatest weakness?

Reflection

1. What are your own answers to the 5 questions?
2. How do the responses compare?
3. Who do you think is right?

Everything that irritates us about others can lead us to an understanding of ourselves.
